

Mr. Arie-Johann Heiertz

RWE Technology International, Germany

Mr. Arie-Johann Heiertz is an expert in mining engineering for any large-scale mining projects in opencast mines. His expertise gained within operational units at RWE Power disembogued in the responsibility of heading an Infrastructural Department at Hambach Opencast Mine. His experience comprises the technical, economical and environmental assessment of mining operations as well as the development and review of mining related capital investment processes (from project concepts to bankable feasibility and project implementation studies) as well as the technical and economical controlling of mining activities. He also gained profound knowledge in the operation of Room & Pillar and high productive Longwall mining systems in Germany and the USA.