

Mr. Sam Oeurn Sothy Roth

Department of Biodiversity, General Secretariat for Sustainable Development,
Ministry of Environment, Cambodia

Mr. Sam Oeurn Sothy Roth is chief of Ex-situ Conservation Office, Department of Biodiversity, General Secretariat for Sustainable Development, Ministry of Environment. He developed an early interest in environmental conservation and historical study via having a background in Bachelor Degree on Environmental Sciences from Royal University of Phnom Penh and graduated with the highest honors scholarship from Her Royal Highest Princess Maha Chakri Siridhorn for Master Degree on Environmental and Chemical Engineering at Burapha University, Thailand in 2016. He joined and led many several of youth activities with NGOs in Cambodia related to youth development, social accountability, health and sanitation, environmental issues as being a young leader. Many achievements have been produced as supporting to national strategies developer. Recently, He was be able to establish the Sok An-Phnom Kulen Orchid Research and Conservation Center in Preah Jayavarman-Norodom "Phnom Kulen" National Park (Siem Reap Province) as part of the first botanical garden in Cambodia and going to establish The National Historical History Museum of Phnom Penh. He has strongly commitment to help local resident to build up their living condition and health via increasing the economic development from set up the botanical garden as ecotourism sites. Mr. Sothy Roth also has his own motto "Learn-Plan-Act-Reflect" which shows that his life is a never-ending learning life.